

Privacy and Non-Disclosure Policy for Coast Guard Foundation Beneficiaries

The Coast Guard Foundation honors the privacy and confidentiality of its beneficiaries and will not release any names, addresses or phone numbers of its beneficiaries without permission from the beneficiaries. The Foundation will attempt to forward email requests to the beneficiaries but will not release the email address or contact information to the requestor.

The Coast Guard Foundation will not publish pictures or names of its beneficiaries on the Foundation website or in other Foundation publications without permission from the beneficiaries or their parents/legal guardians if the beneficiaries are minors under the age of 18.

In some cases, permission to use names, pictures and stories is given during the application or survey process. The Foundation may use material gathered during this manner for print and online content creation when the intended use is stated during the information gathering process.
